

Lights, Camera, Confidential: How KCC Set the Stage for a Star's Career

"I give to Kingsborough Community College because Kingsborough literally changed my life."
Andrew Weyman '71

If you have watched any popular sitcom or daytime drama over the years, chances are that Andrew Weyman, Class of '71, was behind the camera for your favorite episode. An accomplished director and producer, Mr. Weyman began his career in New York City, directing

Mr. Weyman remains deeply appreciative of his alma mater, and through his annual donations helps to ensure that both current and future KCC students enjoy the same opportunities that he did. He is a current member of The 1963 Society, which recognizes the college's most generous philanthropic leaders on an annual basis. And the feeling is mutual: in 2014, Kingsborough honored Mr. Weyman as one of five distinguished alumni at its 50
